HINTS OF NEW BLOWS GIVEN BY CHURCHILL

Declares There Will Be Heavy Fighting Before Autumn Leaves Fall

SAYS U-BOAT TOLL IN MAY REACHED 30

Reiterates Demands For "Unconditional Surrender" of Enemies

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, June 30.—Prime Minister Churchill declared today that it "is very probable there will be heavy fighting in the Mediterranean and elsewhere before the leaves of autumn fall."

Speaking at London's Guild hall, he disclosed that more than 30 U-boats certainly had been destroyed during May and that the massacre was continuing with June "the best month we have ever known in this war."

He said shipbuilding in the United States and Canada had reached a stage where the output of new ships "is somewhere between seven and 10 times as much as our losses from enemy action in June."

Atlantic Uneventful
The prime minister said that since the middle of May scarcely a single merchant ship had been sunk in the whole of the North Atlantic.

Referring to the coming attack in the Mediterranean, he said that so far as the Italian are concerned "they have only been subjected to the preliminary and discursive bombardments but they are already speculating . . . where the blow will fall."

"It is no part of our interest to relieve that anxiety."
The prime minister, speaking in the historic hall where he was honored with the "freedom of the city of London" as the climax to a colorful parade through crowded streets, reiterated:

"We and the United Nations demand from the Nazis and Fascists and Japanese tyrants unconditional surrender."

"By that we mean that they will power to resist must be completely broken and that they must yield themselves absolutely to our justice and mercy."

He declared it also means that "we must take all those far-sighted measures which are necessary to prevent the world from again becoming convulsed, wrecked and blackened by their calculated blows and ferocious aggression."

Ruhr Battle to Spread
Churchill told his cheering listeners the battle of the Ruhr soon would be spreading over all Germany.

"As the nights become longer and

Defense Aids to Witness Youngstown Bomb Feats

Civilian Defense Commander Vincent Malloy and Loren Early, controller, with their assistants, W. L. Early and James Hinkle, will attend a meeting tonight in Youngstown where newest methods of disposing unexploded bombs and bomb reconnaissance work will be explained.

The meeting, planned as a refresher course for defense corps staff members and senior air raid wardens will include a lecture and demonstrations by Lieut. Fred V. Carpenter and Capt. H. M. Rixby, Fifth Service Command officers, who have recently returned from Aberdeen, Md., providing grounds where they received latest information from England and Africa on the disposal of unexploded bombs.

PLAN ARBAUGH RITES FRIDAY

Salem Business Man Had Been Active In Community Since 1905

Funeral service will be conducted at 2 p. m. Friday at the residence of William S. Arbaugh, 87, prominent furniture dealer and retired funeral director, who died suddenly at noon yesterday at his home, 2094 E. State st.

Mr. Arbaugh had been ill two years of a heart ailment.

Dr. R. D. Walter, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will have charge of the service. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

Friends may call at the family home Thursday afternoon and evening.

The son of William and Anna Arbaugh, he was born March 9, 1856, on a farm at New Rumley, O., near the boyhood home of General Custer. Mr. Arbaugh's older brothers and the Custer boys played together as children.

When Mr. Arbaugh was a young boy, his parents moved to Solo where he lived until his marriage Jan. 3, 1884, to Miss Eva Patton. The couple moved to Alliance where he worked for D. B. Cassaday, funeral director and furniture dealer.

Came to City in 1905
In 1905 Mr. Arbaugh came to Salem to become a partner of his father-in-law, Samuel G. Patton, in the Patton and Arbaugh furniture store and mortician business and after the death of Mr. Patton, Mr. Arbaugh carried on the business under his own name.

The undertaking establishment was sold five years ago to W. R. Pearce, who operates the firm under the Arbaugh-Pearce name. Mr. Arbaugh has continued to carry on the furniture business.

While in Solo Mr. Arbaugh became a member of the Presbyterian church, serving as superintendent of the Sunday school. He later transferred his membership to the Salem church and took an active part in its activities, serving as elder and trustee for a number of years.

A staunch prohibitionist, Mr. Arbaugh was active in promoting the formation of a Prohibitionist party in Salem and several times was the party's candidate for mayor. He was a member of Salem City lodge, F. & A. M.

Surviving, besides his wife, Mrs. Eva Patton Arbaugh, is one sister, Mrs. Emma Demich of Cadiz. Eight brothers and sisters preceded him in death.

BROWNIE SCOUTS ENJOY PLAY DAY

Forty-six Brownie Scouts and their respective leaders enjoyed the annual "play day" yesterday afternoon at Centennial park.

There were 12 events in the relay races, with the prize going to members of troop 11 of the Emmanuel Lutheran church. Games were in charge of Mrs. Edgar Hunn and stories and group singing by Mrs. William Sponseller.

The leaders of the various troops include Mrs. Sponseller, Mrs. J. B. Volaw, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Michael Schuller, Miss Betty Lee Kenneweg and Mrs. Dean Reston.

NEW TAX PLAN IS IN EFFECT ON THURSDAY

Uncle Sam To Take Personal Interest In Your Pay Check

PAYROLL DEDUCTION GUARDS INCOME TAX

Rate Is 20 Per Cent of All Earnings Over Personal Exemptions

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 30.—After tonight, Uncle Sam will take a personal interest in your pay check. A chunk of it you'll never see comes out at the source for income taxes.

Under the new system devised by Congress to keep people as nearly abreast of their annual taxes as possible, officials estimated employers will deduct about $500,000,000 a month from the pay envelopes of their employees.

The checkoff will be at the rate of 20 per cent of all earnings over personal exemptions, which are $12 a week for single persons, $24 a week for married persons and $6 additional per week for dependents.

The tax starts with the first payroll period after today. However, millions of wage earners will not be affected until later this month. For instance, persons paid by the calendar week won't start missing the withholding tax until next week, because the current week started before July 1—effective date of the pay-as-you-go legislation.

Disregard Odds Cents
The new system includes both victory and income taxes.

Official regulations released today authorize employers, in figuring the deduction, to disregard the odd cents on paychecks. Thus, a $25.27 check can be counted as $25.20 for convenience in applying the deduction formula.

The treasury also told bosses to skip the withholding angles on expense account payments to employees, but advised them to count in any pay other than money which customarily is part of the remuneration. Thus, if an employee is paid $25 a week and furnished meals, the meals also are subject to the tax. The regulation suggested, however, that the treasury could not put sandwiches in the bank and employers would have to figure the meals on a cash value based on either actual cost or market value. The same goes for employees who pay their employees partly in stocks or other securities.

Vacation pay, pensions, as well as bonuses, also are subject to the act. Exempted from the withholding system are servicemen, domestic servants, clergymen, and farm labor.

On Sept. 15 every single person earning at the rate of $2,700 a year or married person paid at the rate of $3,500 a year, will have to file a "declaration"—something like an annual income tax return. He will figure out whether his paycheck deductions are keeping him up to date with the treasury. If not, he'll have to pay the difference, on a quarterly basis. A similar declaration, together with an annual return, will have to be filed on March 15 of next year and every year thereafter.

Graduating Nurses Awarded Diplomas

Rev. Eugene Beach, pastor of the First Christian church of Youngstown, spoke on "This is the Time for Greatness" to the graduates of the School of Nursing of the Salem City hospital last evening at the Masonic temple. Friends and relatives of the nurses attended the exercises.

Musical selections on the program were presented by Miss Martha Jayne Stirling and Miss Mabel Hostetler, accompanied by Misses Sally Strank and Grace Pales. The invocation and benedictions were in charge of Rev. Fr. J. Richard Gaffney and Captain Robert Barton.

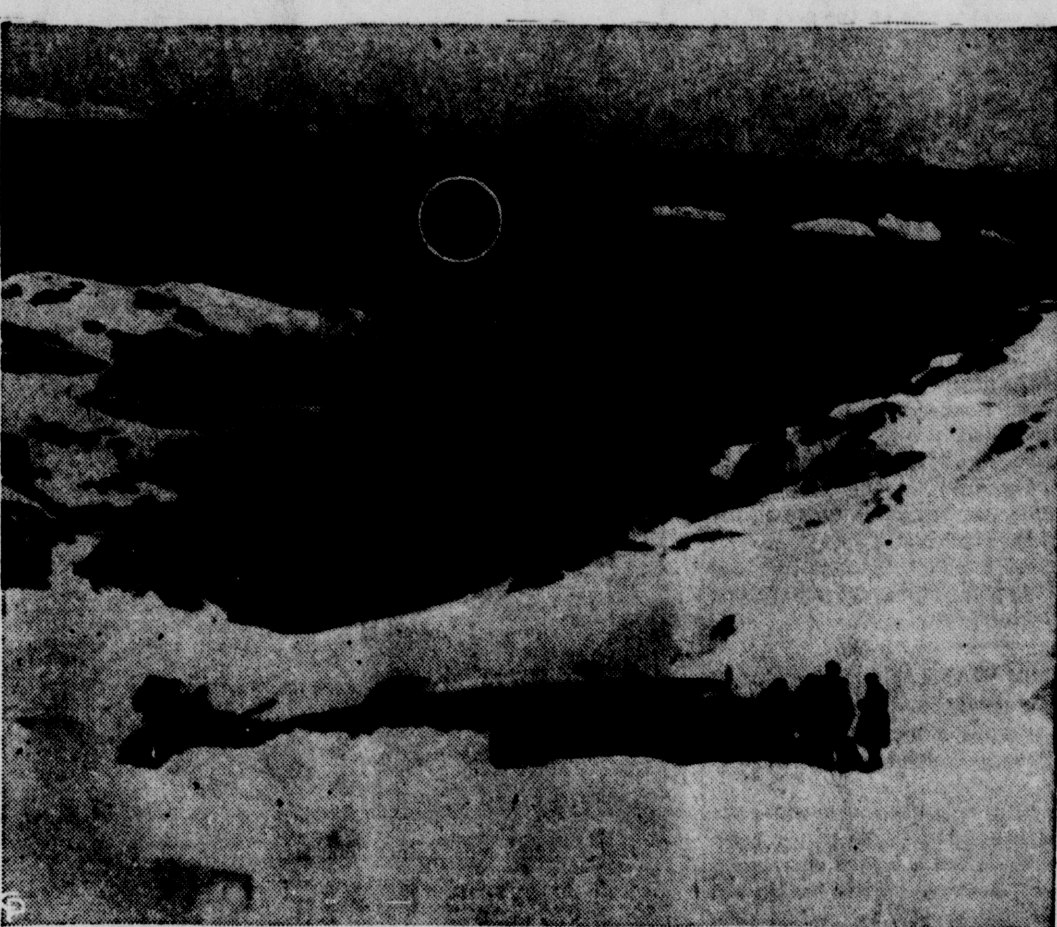

Diplomas were presented by D. B. McCune, president of the hospital board of trustees and school principal by Miss Esther Wilson, superintendent of the hospital. The Nightingale pledge was given by the class and Miss Hazel West, superintendent of nurses.

STEEL OUTPUT HIT BY COAL STRIKES

Production Is Brought To Lowest Level In Three Years, Report

(By Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, June 30.—War-vital steel mills in southwestern Pennsylvania's "valley" are operating at the lowest over-all production level in more than three years because of the coal strike, which withheld millions of tons of bituminous coal and coke from the industry's stock piles, industry leaders reported today.

Production was placed at 78 per cent of theoretical capacity by Dow Jones, financial news agency, after a survey of individual companies. The index was 95 per cent last week and 100 per cent the preceding week.

Although only 130,000 of John L. Lewis' 521,000 United Mine Workers' members were idle today compared with some 250,000 last week, the steel index had dropped because of delayed effects of the walkout. Approximately 100,000 of the strikers are in Pennsylvania.

The index report came as Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board and Philip Murray, president of the Steel Workers union, prepared to open a national campaign here tomorrow for an additional 2,500,000 tons of steel output during the last half of 1943.

Importance of coal in the war effort was emphasized in new back-to-work appeals to insurgent miners from UMW leaders while "let's go back" movements gained momentum in some strike-crippled coal fields. In other areas, however, the miners' cries of "no contract, no work" and "no pay increase, no work" rang out at meetings of rebelling locals.

The first major break in the strike in the Southwestern Pennsylvania's Monaca Valley came last night when the 1,200 workers in the Midland mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company voted to return to work next Tuesday.

The big Lance colliery of the Glen Alden Coal company near Wilkes-Barre, also voted to return today. The mine employs 1,000.

Sell Barrymore Wardrobe

HOLLYWOOD, June 30.—To help defray some $200,000 in claims remaining against the estate of John Barrymore, the wardrobe and furniture of the late stage and screen star were offered at auction today. The shirt in which Barrymore, once ranked among the foremost Shakespearean actors, played Hamlet, went for $7 as the auction opened last night. Other bids ranged from 50 cents for a tuxedo vest to $32.50 for a gray sack suit.

REACH ACCORD ON SUBSIDIES

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Legislation to outlaw the administration's subsidy-rollback program started through Congress anew today in the form of a reconciliation version of senate and house bills prohibiting government expenditures to keep retail food prices down.

Regarded as almost certain to set off another subsidy wrangle, the hybrid bill went to the house on the heels of a War Labor board warning that its stabilization program "calls for a prompt carrying forward of the announced policies of the administration affecting the cost of food."

Turned out by a senate-house committee last night after nearly seven consecutive hours of work, the measure contains virtually all of the anti-subsidy provisions of each bill but permits expenditures up to $150,000,000 to finance present methods of subsidizing increased transportation costs, production of critical metals and output of war essential food products.

CCC Is Approved
The restriction, designed to end the subsidy-rollback on retail prices of meats and butter, was written into a bill giving the Commodity Credit corporation two more years of life and adding $750,000,000 to its present $2,650,000,000 lending power.

Even with this major squabble apparently out of the road, there was not much easy sailing ahead for the lawmakers, especially in the senate. Big headache was money for government agencies, which lost their right to spend allocated sums at the end of the fiscal year—to-night.

A series of appropriation measures hang fire and fights over them indicated that some stop-gap funds might have to be provided until the year's allotment is sanctioned.

House measures, yet to be acted on, include the sharply-reduced appropriation for the office of price control.

Navy Reports New Landing On Islands

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 30.—The Navy announced today that combined American forces have landed on Rendova island in the central Solomons, in what appeared to be the first stage of a new offensive operation against Japanese positions in the South Pacific.

The Navy communique No. 428 said:

"South Pacific: (All dates are east longitude)
"1. On June 30th during the early morning, United States forces landed on Rendova island, New Georgia group. No details have been received."

The Japanese have had installations on the island and presumably the landing either was opposed or, if accomplished by surprise, developed into fighting shortly afterward.

The strategic intent of the American move except for its generally offensive nature in advancing American positions in the Solomons 110 miles northwest of the outpost in the Russell Islands, was not fully apparent.

Rendova's most obvious military characteristic is that it lies only about five miles south of Munda where the Japanese late last year developed an air base. However, at the time the base was nearing completion it was brought under heavy American bombardment and has been regularly assaulted from the air since then so that Navy spokesmen have recently reported it was virtually useless to the enemy.

The American aim would be to take Munda for further Allied operations against either Bougainville, the main enemy-held island in the northwestern Solomons or against Rabaul, which lies still further to the west.

Diversionary Move
Another possibility speculated on here was that the move against Rendova might have been of a screening or diversionary nature to obscure more important thrusts elsewhere.

Still another possibility is that the high command may be testing the extent of Japanese will to resist in the Solomons area.

The Japanese fought furiously and lost heavily in their efforts to recapture Guadalcanal. Any American advance which forced them to undertake similar defensive and costly action would be profitable from the American point of view.

This is the second advance in the Solomons chain since American troops went into Guadalcanal last August 7. About the time the conquest of Guadalcanal in the south-eastern Solomons was completed on Feb. 9 of this year, American forces occupied without opposition the Russell Islands lying 60 miles northwest of Guadalcanal.

The third move, into Rendova island, carries the front line of American strength in the South Pacific into the zone of Japanese domination and 110 nautical miles northwest of the previous position in the Russells.

The last previous American advance against Japan was begun on May 11 when United States army forces moved into Attu island at the western tip of the Aleutians chain in the north Pacific. Attu was mopped up in three weeks of constant fighting under conditions of terrible cold, snow and fog. Prior to the Attu campaign the Navy had announced the occupation of

It's Dawn to Dusk For Ohio Farmers During Wartime

Ohio farm operators are working a dawn-to-dusk schedule to meet war food production goals, figures released by the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics indicated today.

The length of the Buckeye farm work day averaged 13.3 hours for operators and 10.6 hours for hired workers as of June 1, the bureau reported. The work day on June 1, 1940, the previous date on which comparable information was available, averaged 12.4 hours for operators and 10.1 hours for hired hands.

Farm wages rates in Ohio averaged $50.25 per month with board June 1, compared to $40 on June 1, 1942, the bureau said. Without board, the June 1 rates averaged $72 monthly, against $58 a year ago.

The bureau, a branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, said 58 per cent of the Ohio farm population was actually working on farms June 1, compared to 53 per cent a year ago.

Ninety-two per cent of the farm workers as of June 1 were more than 14 years of age and eight per cent under 14. On April 1, 1942, the last date that similar data was available, 98 per cent of the Ohio farm workers were more than 14 and two per cent were under 14.

Seventy-six per cent of Buckeye farm workers were males and 24 per cent females as of June 1. As of April 1, 1942, 84 per cent were male and 16 per cent female.

SHAKEUP ON THE HOME FRONT

The mood of congress leaves no room for doubt about its intentions. Congress intends to conduct a shakeup on the home front.

It has asserted its authority over national labor policy by refusing to be intimidated by President Roosevelt's veto of the Connally-Smith act.

It has asserted its authority over food production and distribution by refusing to endorse the administration's policy of price rollbacks and subsidies to processors in order to conceal the effect of higher production costs.

Congress has taken the bit in its teeth by rough handling of appropriations for various executive agencies which have come under its critical scrutiny. The house and senate both have interested themselves at various times recently in proposals for offsetting a growing New Deal bureaucracy accountable to no one but its ideological sponsors, most of whom got into public power, themselves, by appointment.

Similar actions and attitudes of a congress determined to assert itself more strongly in the conduct of the government have been going on in evidence; they have been part of the "battle of Washington." The trend that now has reached a climax began before election day last November when hundreds of thousands of voters decided they would use their ballots to develop a congress that would be more critical of the New Deal. It is a turning point in the decade-long trend toward government by executive directives at the expense of traditional legislative processes—a trend greatly accelerated by the war since Pearl Harbor.

The growing crisis of home front complications and breakdowns in the conduct of the war has produced a reassertion of congressional authority in the field of domestic policy. Congress has been patient; it was patient before the congressional elections last year, but it learned at the polls that it was still held accountable for domestic policies that had proved unpopular.

This newest engagement in the "battle of Washington" lies between the legislative and executive branches; it is vastly more than a tussle for power between conflicting executive agencies. It promises to be a shakeup of basic government organization, instead of just another reshuffling of individuals and titles. Congress intends to clip some bureaucratic wings and chop off some bureaucratic heads.

It is too soon yet to try to predict how far the shakeup might go. Much depends on the development of articulate and coordinated leadership in the majority that has been formed from a coalition of legislators critical of the administration's conduct of the war on the home front. Republicans and Democrats are arrayed against Republicans and Democrats in the kind of "natural" division the Roosevelt administration began to fear as long ago as 1938, when it tried to purge the Democratic party of some of the same congressmen who now are refusing to stay in line.

The only dangerous possibility inherent in the legislative uprising against executive domination is failure to follow through on a comprehensive program of alternative action. Otherwise, the uprising might turn out to be obstructive, not constructive. The congressional leaders who have gained new responsibility must not fail to get together with those who exercise executive responsibility in an honest effort to combine forces for the national welfare.

At the same time, President Roosevelt and his party leaders must recognize the new situation and adapt themselves to it, unless they want to confirm what their critics have been saying—that they do not welcome legislative participation in government.

The significance of the resurgence of congress in the field of national policy is a potential improvement in public confidence. It is the equivalent in our kind of government of a reorganization in parliamentary government when the cabinet in power cannot command a vote of confidence. Whether the ultimate effect will be accomplished or spoiled by inept handling is problematic. Everything depends on the composite intelligence of the officials who will continue in power whatever happens until a year from next November.

While the shakeup will be viewed with violent misgivings by New Deal "conservatives" insisting on no change under any circumstances, the rest of the country will be hopeful. There is more to be gained than lost by airing the matters of domestic policy that have been under fire.

NOT THE ANGEL GABRIEL

The President is far short of the Angel Gabriel in selection of Judge Marvin Jones to succeed Chester Davis on the hot spot of the national food problem—and even Gabriel, Mr. Roosevelt says, couldn't do anything about it.

Mr. Davis has done what he was expected to do by resigning from a job in which he was unable to obtain authority to match his responsibility. By resigning he clears the air. Presumably, Judge Jones has been assured in advance of a change, or he wouldn't have accepted a hopeless position.

It is an open secret to everybody but bitter-ender defenders who take the position that everything about the Roosevelt administration is sacrosanct that authority over food is divided so many ways no one can exercise it. Former President Hoover pointed this out in a statement last Sunday. "We need a food manager," he said.

Major LaGuardia, one of the administration's friends on almost everything else, but a caustic critic on its handling of food, makes an even more convincing witness. In his weekly radio broadcast last Sunday, he gave a waspish account of a journey to Washington to improve his city's food situation. The atmosphere at the war food administration, he said, "seemed to be one of frustration rather than determination. . . I conferred with four different departments having control of food, with very high officials of the government. One department awaits the action of another and no department seems to take the enormous powers given them by executive orders."

Judge Jones, former Democratic congressman from Texas who accepted an appointment to the United States court of claims, takes over from his predecessor with all the sympathy but not much of the confidence of his countrymen. It will take more than a reshuffling of faces to improve the food situation.

THE STARS SAY:

For Thursday, July 1

THE ASTRAL influences on this day give excellent impetus for applying splendid talents and energies into plans and projects of ambitious scope and long range significance. It is a time for considering agreements, contracts, new openings and ideas of personal ingenuity. But shun erratic, confused or subtle entanglements, having dubious undercurrents.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of excellent progress, as energy, initiative and exceptional talents and versatility may have an opportunity for productive expression. This should attract the support of friends and others, with capital, influence or other promotional qualities. Approach these and all with wariness as to hidden, chaotic or doubtful complications, which might be detrimental to desired results. The social or sentimental angle is not to be neglected in pushing for cherished objectives.

A child born on this day may have exceptional talents and abilities, with energy and initiative to grasp opportunities for a progressive and productive career. Its life also may be romantic, and it should enjoy domestic happiness.

We are never satisfied with the weather. It was only a few months ago that practically everybody was complaining about the unseasonable cold, and the extremely wet weather. Now it has turned to complaint of the excessive heat and the extremely dry weather—we need rain, and we need it a little cooler. But then we're not going to try to do anything about it.

The strawberry season slipped by without hardly being noticed—except if there were any on the market they were priced at about 40 cents the quart, and it was difficult to tell whether they were strawberries. All of which means that the proverbial strawberry shortcake with two berries, is a myth this season.

Discussing inflation, one of our exchange paraphraser says that for what it cost the government to finance the Lewis and Clark Expedition—about $2500—we could just about get a bureaucrat aboard the train bound for Washington to take a post at the taxpayers expense.

High In Some Persons, Low In Others

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
YESTERDAY we discussed the findings of a recent report on the blood pressure in a large group of people over the age of 40. For the first time in published literature, as far as I know, there was obtained a view of the incidence of high blood pressure. In other words, how many people in a definite age group had an abnormally high blood pressure. The number was found to be high. Even at the comparatively youthful age of 40 about one-third of the persons examined had a blood pressure of 150 or more systolic, which is considered the upper limit.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Another investigation has come to hand which shows that in a group of adolescent boys and girls from 14 to 19 quite a large group show blood pressures of 10 per cent over normal and it was found that these came from high blood pressure families.

A Physiological Phenomenon
But other conclusions of this investigation are of value to anyone who wonders too much about his blood pressure. It was found that the blood pressure varied greatly and the report says: "Many of the elevated readings were due to excitement. This was quite apparent by the second observation when only a small number of the entire series continued to have elevated blood pressures."

This indicates two important lessons for anyone who gets too worried about his blood pressure. In the first place the blood pressure is a physiological phenomenon. It is not stationary; it varies with activity, excitement, emotions of all kinds and the use of the various drugs which civilized people habitually use—tobacco, alcohol, coffee, tea, and so forth. The blood pressure is merely an adjustment made by the heart and the blood vessels to the needs of the body for blood.

The second lesson is that in order to determine what the proper blood pressure is, it should be taken two or three times so that the element of nervousness is entirely eliminated.

It is interesting to note in this report on the blood pressure of adolescents that those who had a high blood pressure came from families in which there was a history of high blood pressure.

Surveys Disagree
This seems to be contradicted by another study which I have seen in a medical journal in which the family history of 4,000 applicants for life insurance was examined and it was found that the incidence of family blood pressure disease was only slightly greater among those who had a high pressure than among those who had a normal pressure. This contradicts the findings of the first report mentioned.

My opinion would be that a life insurance examination was a poor one to analyze in order to determine hereditary influences. I have made a good many life insurance examinations and I very seldom found anyone who knew very much about his family and especially about the diseases that the father and mother, brothers and sisters, or grandparents had during life. Most of the time they have a very vague idea about what the exact disease was and if you wish to get statistical data about the hereditary nature of high blood pressure you should be very sure that the individuals know about their family history. My experience has been that when real information was available, there is no question about the relationship between high blood pressure and heredity.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. H.: What brings on nephritis and is there any cure for it?

Answer: There are many kinds of nephritis. The common cause is the slowly progressive change in the small blood vessels of the kidney which was once called "Bright's disease." The cause of many kinds is the aging process and you can make up your own mind if there is any cure for that.

Water Runs Uphill
For Army Air Corps

WENDOVER FIELD, Utah—Engineers are going to make water run uphill for the benefit of U. S. Army Air Corps men at Wendover field on the edge of Utah's salt desert.

Early this summer they expect to complete a 12-inch pipeline 32 miles long connecting supply springs with a million-gallon storage reservoir at the base.

To do this, the water must be pumped from the springs and raised 228 feet to clear a ridge, after which it will be pumped through the line at 1,000 gallons per minute.

SECOND FRONT—THE SHIPYARDS

AMERICA'S merchant ship construction program virtually reached its peak in May with the delivery of 175 new cargo ships for a total of 1,782,000 deadweight tons. This is an all-time high. So far this year American shipyards have delivered 710 ships, ready for sea duty, with a total tonnage of 7,142,122 deadweight tons, almost the equal of the entire 1942 production. The May rate of production, extended over the year, would equal better than 20,000,000 tons. Against these figures ship sinkings by German U-boats have declined to the point where we are building better than four new ships for every one lost to the enemy and according to official announcements the picture is improving.

ARMY DREAM GIRL JOINS THE NAVY
BATON ROUGE, La.—Men of the 85th bombing group at nearby Harding Field Army air base have court martialled their blonde and beautiful "sweetheart" because she married a Navy ensign.
Their dream girl, Phyllis Beadle of Glendale, Calif., had been elected despite the distance prevailing between the west coast and Louisiana. And if it hadn't been for the society column of a California paper the Harding Field bunch might never have known of Phyllis' marriage.
A local committee is now making preparations for selection of another sweetheart. The boys say the new one will be a Baton Rouge girl and that if she sees them often enough, "she won't have time to get mixed up with the Navy."

From the tire came two nice bass—the only catch of the day!

THE WINNAH! WITH 77 CHIGGERS
CAMP POCK, La.—An Eleventh Armored Division lieutenant recently issued an open challenge to the United States Army to match his record of 77 chigger bites. The lieutenant preferred anonymity, but by count of scars and lumps seemed to have definitely clinched the championship.
About par for chigger bites during field work here is in the low fifties. Certain privates have turned up with 60 and 65. But never before to the knowledge of chigger authorities has the bug struck 77 times beneath a single uniform.

Seize New York Air Raid Warden As Nazi Secret Agent

In one of the most sensational espionage cases in this war, the Federal Bureau of Investigation in New York has arrested and unmasked a 57-year-old air raid warden as a Nazi secret agent who admits he sent vital military information about troop and supply convoys to Germany. The confessed spy, Ernest Frederick Lehmitz, a German-born, naturalized American citizen, is shown (extreme left) as he was arraigned. He pleaded guilty to charges of espionage and was held in $50,000 bail. He faces punishment ranging from 30 years imprisonment to death in the electric chair. Lehmitz was trained in a special spy school at Hamburg, Germany, during 1941, according to the FBI. (International).

Official Washington And Congress
Divided On Food Subsidy Program

BY JOHN GROVER

WASHINGTON — Pros and cons of the food subsidy program have split official Washington and Congress down the middle like a fried chicken.

Objective observers say the question offers a choice between two evils: (1) runaway inflation; (2) curtailed farm production. The theory behind subsidies is simple. The government has imposed retail price ceilings. Farmer A calculates he can't sell his beans for less than, say, 10 cents a pound and pay growing costs. Canner B can't pay 10 cents a pound, plus increased labor costs, and stay in business. The price at which he'd have to sell to allow himself a profit, and the jobber, wholesaler and retailer a profit, would push the retail price above the allowed ceiling.

Fair Profit
So the government steps in and buys the beans from Farmer A at 10 cents, and then turns around and sells them to Canner B at 7 cents a pound. That lets the distributive agencies make a fair profit and the consumer isn't knifed in the pocketbook.

The loss occasioned by 10-cent purchase and 7-cent resale is paid out of federal funds. That's a subsidy.

From the beginning of price control, subsidies were advanced as the best control measure. They were shelved first because Leon Henderson advocated subsidies, and Henderson got in bad with Congress. Jesse Jones, more popular on Capitol Hill, was then tentatively given the administration's subsidy bill—but the farm bloc still wouldn't agree to subsidies, and they were shelved again.

Coal Strike Effort
The coal strike really resurrected subsidies. John L. Lewis hit a chord every grocery buyer understood when he harped on food price increases as justification for wage increases. Subsidies were dusted off to roll back prices and steal Lewis' thunder.

Organized labor enthusiastically supported subsidies. The farm bloc, particularly southern elements howled opposition. That is the basic schism over subsidies — the farm bloc versus the labor bloc, country versus city.

The farm bloc argues that wages have risen faster than farm prices. (Federal figures do show that wage earners spend less of every dollar for food than in the last war.) They argue for letting farm prices go up, at least to match wage boosts already granted. They want the higher prices now, not a subsidy stoppage that will disappear with war's end.

There's a special explanation for the vehemence of southern opposition. The subsidies so far apply only to food. Food crops aren't southern mainstays as are tobacco, cotton and industrial farm products. The South won't benefit so much under a food subsidy program.

Economists' View
There are economists of standing on both sides of the subsidy fence. Pros argue that subsidies actually are cheaper than any other controls. They say that a 2-cent meat subsidy at the source means a 3-to-4 cent saving at retail, through lower profit percentages added along the distributive line.

They hold subsidies, paid from federal funds, are more equitable because federal funds derive from taxes based on ability to pay.

Anti-subsidy economists say food subsidies are only a beginning, that once they are assured, pressure groups will begin agitating for subsidies on furniture, clothing, rent and other living cost factors. They foresee a terrific national debt increase, in addition to the cost of armaments, if the subsidy principle once gets a foot in the door.

Cost of Administration
The anti-subsidy discount the argument that subsidies are cheaper. Costs of administration, they say, would outweigh initial savings. Finally, they say the limited benefits of subsidy will not be enough to assure full production by disarmed farmers.

Middle-grounders expect some production loss under subsidies as opposed to a "free" market, but see the matching gain of a controlled price structure, free from the threat of an inflation spiral. That's the subsidy picture. Some political analysts profess to see the administration's support of subsidies as a move calculated to win urban grocery-buying support in the 1944 election, holding them a surer bet than farm elements who took some healthy swings at the New Deal last year at the polls.

Based on the preliminary line-up of vocal congressmen, it's essentially a split between produce-selling country and grocery buying city groups, the farm bloc versus the labor bloc, with the farm bloc charging the administration with supporting the city against the country.

Seize Engineer As Nazi Spy

Erwin Harry De Spretter, 52, left, is shown in custody of a sheriff following his arrest by the FBI on charges of collaborating in espionage work for the German high command. De Spretter, a consulting engineer for American war plants, pleaded guilty when he was arraigned before a U. S. commissioner. His bail was fixed at $50,000, the same as that set for Ernest Frederick Lehmitz, New York air raid warden previously arrested. De Spretter was a lieutenant in the German army in World War I. Couple Wed In Ceremony At Ellsworth

Miss May Marie Gfeller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gfeller, 532 Bank st., became the bride of Donald Ripley, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Ripley, at Ellsworth at 4 p. m. Sunday at the Ellsworth Methodist church, with Rev. P. Ullinger officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in white satin, styled with a sweetheart neckline and long fitted sleeves pointed at the wrists. She also wore a fingertip length veil. Her bouquet was of white roses.

Mrs. Oscar Gfeller, aunt of the bride, served as her matron-of-honor and wore a pink taffeta gown and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. She also wore a tiara of pink veiling and flowers.

Misses Mildred Johnson and Dorothy Severn served as bridesmaids and wore similarly styled gowns in blue taffeta and carried pink roses. Their tiaras were of matching veiling and pink roses.

Robert Ripley was his brother's best man and Paul Gretsinger and William Zimmerman were ushers. Mary Catherine Ripley was flower girl and wore pink dotted swiss and carried a basket of white rose petals.

A reception was held for 60 friends and relatives at the Ripley residence following the ceremony.

Mrs. Ripley attended Salem High school and was formerly employed by the Salem China Co.

Mr. Ripley is employed at the Pennsylvania railroad depot at Warren.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will make their home in Niles.

Spencer Class Meets At Jewell Home

Thirty-five members and guests of the Spencer class of the Presbyterian church met last evening at the home of Mrs. Theodore Jewell on W. Tenth st.

The program included three vocal selections, "Daddy's Sweetheart," "Alleluia," and "Still Is the Night," by Betty Rose, accompanied by Anna Cook; two readings, "Being Clinched" and "A Perfect 42," and a poem written by Allene Kilmer, Mrs. Ross Clay; piano number, "Impromptu," Miss Cook. Refreshments were served by the committee which included Miss Belle Golladay, Mrs. Bruce Carey, Mrs. James King, Mrs. Roy Richards, Mrs. Grace Grimes and Mrs. Hillis Gray.

The next meeting, July 27, will be a picnic at 6:30 p. m. at Centennial park for members and their families.

Dinner Is Farewell Honor to Mr. Pfeiffer

Members of the Metropolitan district, their wives and members of the clerical staff held a dinner Saturday evening in the green room of the Salem hotel in honor of Mr. F. Pfeiffer, their former manager who recently was transferred to the Youngstown district. Mrs. Pfeiffer and daughter Shirley also were guests.

Clifford Woods, assistant manager of the Alliance branch office, was toastmaster and extended the good wishes of the group. Presentations of gifts to Mr. and Mrs. Pfeiffer from the agency and clerical staffs were made by W. D. Smith, assistant manager of the Salem office, and Mrs. George Talbot, cashier.

Short talks were made by H. F. Pfeiffer, retired agent, and Martha Zakko, agent on disability.

Mrs. Fouts Hostess To Trimble Class

Mrs. E. E. Fouts entertained 36 members of the Trimble class of the Presbyterian church last evening at her home on the Damascus rd.

Mrs. Lucy Slack, a guest from New York City, gave an interesting talk on the activities of the Y. M. C. A. in foreign countries and her personal experience in relation to the establishments.

The program included devotions by Mrs. W. E. Bunn; a few remarks from the class teacher, Miss Erma Hennessy; a humorous reading by Mrs. Robert Groner; contests and quizzes by Miss Edna Stouffer.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Virginia Long, Miss May Montgomery, Miss Stouffer and Miss Margaret Floyd.

The next meeting will be a picnic July 27 at the home of Mrs. Emmett Justice on the Greenford rd.

Club Members Plan July 8 Meeting

Pans were made for a supper and theater party to be held July 8 when members of the Do-Be-There club met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Milford Hepler on Arch st.

Prizes in "500" were awarded to Mrs. Leroy Sell, Mrs. Harold Keefer and Mrs. Perry Young.

Proceeding the theater party, members will meet at 6:15 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Arch Ingledue on S. Broadway.

Picnic Is Enjoyed

A picnic dinner was enjoyed by members of the United Bible class of the Baptist church last evening at Centennial park. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Richard Stirling, Mrs. Harold DeRoods and Mrs. Clarence Bailey.

Mrs. Jesse G. Youtz left Wednesday morning for New Haven, Conn., to join her husband, Corp. Youtz, who is stationed there with the U. S. Army Air Forces. Mrs. Youtz is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Fletcher, Euclid st.

Mrs. R. L. Smith and children, Marilyn and Richard, of Columbus, Wis., are visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Carr of Ellsworth ave.

Missionary Topic Is Discussed

Miss Thelma Thomas had charge of the topic, "Unto the Least of These," when members of the Jesse Thomas Missionary society of the English Lutheran church met last evening at the home of Mrs. Wade S. Heffer in Damascus.

A contest was enjoyed with Mrs. Mildred Shallenberg as the winner. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ellen McCartney.

The next meeting will be a picnic July 27 at Centennial park.

Miss Barbara Butler Is Hostess

Miss Barbara Butler entertained members of the Maids of Salem, class of 44, at her home on the Albany rd. last evening.

The hostess served refreshments after which a bowling party was enjoyed.

Women of Moose Meet Tonight

Women of the Moose will meet this evening at the lodge. The executive session will be held at 7:30 and the regular meeting at 7:45.

Mrs. Andrew B. Thach returned yesterday to her home in Morehead City, N. C., after a two week's visit with her mother, Mrs. D. U. Smith on W. Tenth st.

MINNETTA ESTERLY MARRIES SOLDIER

LEETONIA, June 30.—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Esterly announce the marriage of their daughter, Minnetta, to Sgt. Charles Millar, of Atlantic City, N. J., on Tuesday, June 22, at the Methodist church in Atlantic City.

The bride, a graduate of Leetonia High school and Ohio university, has been music supervisor at Kent schools.

A. M. E. ZION SEEKS TO RETAIN PASTOR

An appeal by church members and other interested persons, requesting the retention of Rev. William W. Howard as pastor of the A. M. E. Zion church has been sent to Bishop P. A. Wallace, superintendent of this district. The bishop had previously proposed a transfer of the local pastor.

Conducting a campaign now to liquidate church indebtedness and to solidify church finances, Rev. Howard has been assured of the support of his church members and the cooperation of the Salem Ministerial association, an advisory board of citizens and the Business bureau in the project.

Rev. Howard is remaining in Salem although Rev. James G. Patrick came here Sunday from Lakawanna, N. Y., to succeed Rev. Howard who was scheduled for a transfer to the south.

PUZZLED OPA HEADS FIND POTATO CACHE

COLUMBUS, June 30.—New potatoes, piled knee deep over an area 12 feet square, were found on a dump in the western section of Columbus today.

James Huffman, chief counsel here for the Office of Price Administration, said he was "very puzzled" and assigned investigators to the case.

The potatoes arrived at the dump either last night or early today, Huffman said, but where they came from or why they were discarded was more than he could figure out.

"Maybe some wholesaler told his help to clean out the basement and he was taken too literally," Huffman said. "Darned if I know!"

Word of the windfall spread through the area and the potatoes vanished swiftly.

CENTRAL SOLOMONS, LANDING REPORTED

Combined American forces Make Advance On Rendova Island

Funafuti in the Ellice islands in the south central Pacific.

Rendova island, which extends for about 20 miles in a north-south direction, lies south of the western end of New Georgia island which is the large island of the central Solomons. Rendova is entirely mountainous and rises to a height of 3,488 feet. At the summit of the peak is an extinct volcanic crater.

Lacks Good Harbor

The island has a lagoon off its northwestern side but the lagoon is shallow and marked with several reefs so that it is not too useful. The lack of a good harbor plus the mountainous character of the terrain indicated that the island would be very limited in its direct military usefulness and supplied one of the reasons for believing, as most authorities here do, that some objective of greater importance was involved in the operation.

News of the assault came shortly after the Berlin radio broadcast a Tokyo dispatch asserting that Allied air forces in the South Pacific were making extensive preparations for an offensive north of Australia.

The broadcast said the Allies had massed 2,200 planes in the Australian sector last month and added: "Another reason for expecting the Allies to make a third attempt at an offensive in the area north of Australia is their failure to break through Japanese fortifications from India to Burma."

THAT MAN IS MINE by May Christie

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

Ann wore a white organdie gown. It had a rainbow butterfly perched on each shoulder, in shimmering sequins, and another on the low, heart-shaped décolletage.

If only Jim were going to the party... If he could see her in this dress, could she win him back, she wondered?

But she must not allow her mind to dwell on Jim now.

Nor think of tomorrow night when she must leave for the North.

Suddenly, Hank came to her mind. She said: "I hope to heaven Hank Bruger isn't coming to my dinner on the yacht! He spoils everything!"

"I'm sure I don't know. I thought you and he were good pals," Julia was at the mirror, putting on a final dab of powder.

Ann snapped: "No. He's a crook."

Julia swung around. "Isn't that rather a sweeping statement to make about Hank?"

"I have my good reasons."

"Oh, forget 'em. Who are we to sit in judgment? As for me, I'm out for fun!" Julia declared.

It was a calm evening. No wind. No moon. Very few stars in the dark blue sky. Vince's chauffeur came for them. He had two cardboard boxes with him. One for Ann. One for her sister.

Ann's contained a veritable cascade of orchids.

Julia's a rope of gardenias set in a shimmer of maiden-hair fern.

They fastened the corsages on their gowns, and followed the chauffeur to the car.

"This is the life!" Julia said. "Simple air-stewardess in $250 gown! Face made up with Marks—Park Avenue's best! Beautiful sister's cloak wrapping me around! Gardenias dotted by sister's millionaire suitor! Gee, aren't you lucky!"

Vince had arranged a gala party. The men outnumbered the women. And he had engaged two itinerant Negro singers well-known in Miami Beach, who accompanied themselves on steel guitars.

The singers strolled around the deck and the brightly-lit saloon, warbling romantic ditties of the Old South.

When Vince and Ann were in the bow, the Negroes softly serenaded them there. Vince was so emotionally carried away by "Old Virginny" that he suddenly kissed Ann before she could stop him. She thought, a little sadly, because after all he'd been a loyal pal: He is in love with me! And I simply can't reciprocate. It's too bad!

"You know, you can't escape me honey!" he whispered, under the mellow music, "I warn you I'm following you to New York... soon."

Julia had four men about her in the bar. She was holding them all amused by her wisecracks.

The cocktail period went on until almost eleven. Then the singers went ashore, and the party adjourned to the saloon for dinner.

Ann's place was at Vince's right hand. Julia was happily seated between the two most attractive men aboard.

Vince's chef had created epicurean marvels tonight in Ann's honor. The rarest delicacies were served. Everyone ate heartily. Everyone seemed very merry.

Under the influence of the Lucullan feast, and the vintage champagne, Ann's sadness over Jim was temporarily forgotten.

It was past midnight when, glancing through a porthole, she was aware that the yacht was actually on the move!

"It's okay honey. Don't get scared!" Vince grinned reassuringly. "As a matter of fact we've been under way for some time. The engines are so quiet, and the sea so calm, you just didn't notice it."

"But you must turn back!" she cried.

Julia leaned across the table. "Don't raise a fuss, Ann. Vince tipped me off just before dinner. He had the stewards draw the curtains over the portholes so none of you would see we were moving."

"To where?" asked Ann.

"To Key West," Vince said. "We should be there by dawn."

Ann was alarmed. "Whatever happens, I've got to catch the train tomorrow night for New York."

Vince patted her shoulder. "Don't worry. You'll be there. Leave all to poppa!"

She gasped. This was outrageous. "But our day clothes?"

Vince said airily: "I've a stock of swim suits, sunsuits, slack suits and sleeping pajamas for everybody aboard."

Julia jeered: "Calm yourself, Ann. The only way you can get back now is to swim for it, and let the sharks and barracuda gobble you up."

Ann didn't think the situation funny, though the rest of them seemed amused and delighted over Vince's little surprise. He promised them that they would all be back in Miami the next evening.

Now it was doubly gay aboard. Champagne flowed freely. They danced to Vince's radio-victrola. They played his little slot machines. They sang songs. They told stories.

The sea remained calm. It was very late when the party retired to their various cabins.

Ann had a tiny cabin to herself. She fell asleep immediately.

It seemed no time at all till she awoke, coughing and choking. She struggled up in bed. A hot fog filled her cabin... swirled about her smotheringly...

She sprang out of bed, and rushed to the porthole. It must be pouring in from outside...?

But no! It was smoke... seeping through the cracks of the locked cabin door... streaming down through the vents...

Fire!

She flew to the door. The handle was so hot that her hand dropped from it. She shouted for help.

Simultaneously, there was a commotion overhead. Sound of feet running. Shouted orders. A babel of confusion and cries.

She snatched a towel from a chair, wrapped it about her hand. She tried to push back her door-bolt but it had stuck! She could not move it.

The heat was overpowering. She could not breathe.

"Help! I'm trapped!" she shouted, choking. "Help!"

The handle was almost red-hot now. Outside there was an ominous, queer roar. The heat was so terrific that she staggered to the open porthole for air. She shouted for help through it. In the early rays, she saw houses and a dock a couple of hundred yards distant. They were anchored off Key West.

Through smarting eyeballs, she saw people running on the shore... boats being manned and pushed off! From behind her came a louder roar... and then flames, long-tongued and searing, shot in. Agony streamed over her flesh as her frail pajamas caught the blaze...

She screamed as, in the draught, the tongues of fire flew upward, caught her long golden hair in swift conflagration.

With a supreme last effort she leapt to the couch under the porthole, and hurled herself through. The living torch that was Ann was stilled in the waters off Key West...

Ann awoke to a world of pain. She moaned. She was conscious of a movement beside her, immediately. A familiar voice saying softly, pitifully: "I'm right here, darling. This is Julia."

She half opened her eyes. Dimly saw her sister in a white uniform bending over her. A man, also in white—a stranger—was with Julia. His fingers went to her wrist. Even that gentle touch meant more pain.

"Suffering?" he whispered, kindly.

"Yes. Terribly. What is it?"

He didn't answer. He said something in a low voice to Julia. Julia turned from the cot. She passed something to the man in white. He turned down the bedclothes, very gently. Julia touched an unbandaged piece of skin on Ann's leg with a saturated swab of cotton.

Almost directly, the fiery tongues of pain that seemed to writhe and sear the entire surface of her body lost some of their sting.

Ann's stiff lips moved again. "Was it—an accident?" she managed to whisper. And her own voice sounded wraith-like to her.

"An accident, yes. But lie quiet?"

"Yes. Hush now, and do as the doctor says," coaxed Julia.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—Victory gardeners who have battled the early-season crises of planting and weeding may rejoice the commando raids of rabbits, gophers and grackles common about this time of year by sprinkling powdered lime on plants when damp, scattering moth balls around the edge of the vegetable plot or applying a mix of wood ashes and red pepper on leaves, Pennsylvania State College advises.

CAR LUBRICATION ADJUSTED TO SLOW SPEED SUMMER DRIVING

Keeping your car properly greased and oiled with the change of season and speed is a matter of better life or encroaching death to your car. All the more so if there are days on end when your car never leaves the garage. The mere change from heavy to light oil in your crank case means less than when you got your engine warmed up at least twice a day. Theatre

Maureen O'Hara and Charles Laughton are cast as the leading players in "This Land Is Mine," scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the State. A village somewhere in occupied Europe is the setting for the story which stars Laughton as Albert Lory, a teacher whose timidity and awkward blundering win him derision from most of his fellow citizens. The relentless current of events which happen when the German troops take over the village leads to an inevitable clash and Lory is drawn into the heart of the struggle when he is accused of murdering one of the collaborationists aiding the Nazis.

"Carson City Cyclone" presents Don Barry as a brilliant young criminal lawyer, who switches his talents to the side of law and order when his father, a kindly judge, is killed by the very criminal element Don has been protecting. The film will be at the Grand Thursday, Friday and Saturday, along with "All By Myself."

Class A Softball Teams Begin Second Round Of Play

Bombers, Gold Bars Winners Of Opening Games At Park

The second round of play in the city Class A softball loop opened last night with the Bombers drubbing Demings 8 to 4 and the Gold Bars defeating the Salem China nine, 6 to 1.

The first round ended with Bliss as the champs, having won seven games and lost one. Bliss plays its first Second round tilt Friday night at the park, meeting Scotts.

Demings managed to take a 3 to 1 lead in the first inning of their game with the Bombers last night, but were unable to score again until the last inning. The Bombers, meanwhile, scored another run in the second, three more in the fourth and three more in the sixth. Four errors were charged against the Deming men.

The Gold Bars and the Potters fought a close game until the sixth inning when a six-run spree clinched the game for the Bars. The Chinas scored their only run in the fifth.

PAINFUL BUT GOOD FOR HIM

Drawlin' Coach, Man Of Many Words, Set To Mastermind Football Dodgers

DALLAS — So Pete Cawthon, the man with the Gawgia accent and many moods, is going to coach the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National Football League.

The doings of drawlin' Pete are legendary out in the Plains country where he successfully coached Texas Tech's Red Raiders. Before that he tutored the footballers at Austin College.

Texans kept up with him when he left Tech and became assistant coach at the University of Alabama. Every time he visited this state, new stories of Pete the unusual were told.

Cawthon is the guy who made his

VOLO SONG WINNER AT NORTH RANDALL

CLEVELAND, June 30—Volo Song enhanced his standing as the horse to beat in this year's Hambletonian trotting classic by his straight heat victory yesterday in the 5,000 Matron stake, the feature of the opening Grand Circuit meeting at the neighboring North Randall track.

The Brown son of Volomite completed his chores without the guidance of 70-year-old Ben White, who was stricken with a dizzy spell yesterday. Tommy Berry substituted for White and brought the three-year-old across the wire a length ahead of Worthy Boy in the first heat in a time of 2:05 1/4.

The headline number of today's bill is the matron stake for three-year-old pacers. Adios, owned by Tommy Thomas of Cleveland, and King's Counsel, entered by E. P. Cray of Vermont and Doc Parrish of Urbana, O., are the favorites in this event, which has a money value of $1,800.

SPORT CHATTER

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, June 30—The clocks will start striking V-12 o'clock at a good many colleges tomorrow and a lot of coaches who have been wondering whether they'd have jobs next fall can start finding out for sure.

When his team lost a game to Simmons University, Pete ordered two of his tackles to lap the stadium and no one could find him. The Methodists left on the train that night for Dallas. Shortly after dawn a head popped out of an upper berth and peered around. It was Cawthon in the S.M.U. football car!

Two Tired Tackles

When his team lost a game to Simmons University, Pete ordered two of his tackles to lap the stadium. He forgot about them and went home. Then he remembered a package he had left at the field. He returned and there were his two tackles, their tongues hanging out.

Well, sir, Cawthon thought so much of their loyalty he awarded them Texas Tech blankets—given only to captains of opposing teams. They are the only Tech men ever to get TT blankets.

One year Tech lost its first three games. Cawthon had started the campaign attired in a straw hat and linen suit. The weather got cold but Pete wouldn't buy winter clothing because he didn't want to answer questions. It was not until the Red Raiders had a seven-game streak snapped that Pete drove down Main street and ordered three suits.

A SHORT SHORTER

When Dewey "Shorter" Luster, Oklahoma grid coach, learned that ten of his Spomers were being called up by the Marines, leaving him with only one survivor of last year's squad, Boone Baker, a sophomore wingback, Shorter moaned: "Look! like we're coming in on a wingback and a prayer."

SERVICE DEPT.

Yeoman Morris Siegel, sports columnist of the Norfolk naval training station "Seabag," reports Phil Rizzuto has done damage to the rival naval air station team "than the Allied fliers did to Pantelleria." In a recent five-game series in which every game was decided by a single run, Phil was either directly or indirectly responsible for every winning tally.

Marine boxers lost, 6-5, to a Royal Australian Air Force team in a series of bouts fought recently "somewhere in the South Pacific" for the China famine relief fund, but they got considerable consolation from the showing of Corp. Ray White, Steubenville, O., heavyweight who stopped his men in two rounds.

BARKLEY UP THE WRONG TREE

Wichita baseball fans insist this column was in error in saying that Red Barley, the new Dodger shortstop, wasn't a "regular" on the Cessna semi-pro team last year just because he played only half his team's games in the National tourney. It was a leg injury that kept him out.

Incidentally, Branch Rickey reports Barley has made himself popular with the Dodgers by cussing himself out when he returns to the bench after making a bad play. "I got the impression," says Branch, "that he was well, kind of screwballish."

No Baseball Worries In Australia

WASHINGTON — Baseball is in for its biggest year in Australia. There are no managerial worries over the draft status of a slugging first baseman or any question about the availability of equipment, because the players are United States servicemen, and the equipment has already been contributed by the government of Australia was reciprocal lend-lease, without cost to the United States.

Australia has provided 75,000 baseballs and hundreds of units of other baseball equipment, including gloves, bases, bats, masks, shinguards and body protectors to the Americans.

More than 100,000 units of recreational equipment have already been contributed altogether by Australia, and some 220,000 additional units will be added, with baseball leading in the athletic department, reading matter in the non-athletic. They range from dominoes to footballs, from phonograph records to horse shoes.

Some 300 bases are included, making possible 75 baseball games simultaneously. On the basis of 96,000 baseballs used by the two big leagues of the United States during a season, the soldier teams should be able to play thousands of games.

Australia also has contributed 1,938 softballs and is committed to an additional 18,062, a total of 20,000. Breakage and loss are on a reduced scale in softball, which explains the smaller number.

Only 20 footballs had been delivered when the report was compiled, but there will be 2,000 with full complements of bladders and pumps. A total of 244 volleyballs have also been delivered, and there will be 2,000 with nets and bladders. Basketballs—500 of them—are scheduled, with 168 already delivered, and 3,094 dozens of punchball bladders, with 506 dozen delivered.

The serviceman can draw upon a supply of 3,000 dozen tennis balls. If he prefers bodily contact in his sports life, 415 sets of boxing gloves are already on hand and a total of 1,200 scheduled, with punching bags, both heavy and light, and 175 medicine balls, to help him train for his bouts. If he misses those seasons out behind the barn, some 4,000 horseshoes are on schedule.

The soldier who prefers to "curl up with a good book" when the day's duties are over will have some 82,000 volumes to select from. If his nostalgia extends to a favorite band leader, he will have his choice of 5,000 phonograph records. The checker wizard will have 750 sets of equipment, the chess devotee 250. If he likes cards, he will have 2,500 decks of regular playing cards and 2,500 decks of pinocchio cards. If his taste

TREAT SCHEDULED TO DIE IN CHAIR

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, June 30.—Anthony Treat, who still protests his innocence, is scheduled to die in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary tonight for the rape slaying of 10-year-old Helen Sellers at Cincinnati last Christmas eve.

The 37-year-old painter yesterday wrote Warden Frank D. Henderson that he was "not guilty" and it would be "unjust" to execute him, the warden reported.

Treat has not, however, appealed to Gov. John W. Bricker for executive clemency, Henderson declared.

The girl's body was found beneath a freight shed last Dec. 26. Treat was arrested four hours later, but for three days denied any implication in the slaying. He then confessed but later repudiated the statement, Cincinnati police said.

Treat was convicted by a three-judge court after waiving a jury trial.

Treat, declared sane by three alienists after his arrest for the rape slaying, served six years of a one to 20-year term 10 years ago for rape of his 13-year-old sister-in-law on Christmas day, 1931. Two years ago he completed a year in county jail for molesting a six-year-old girl.

Portage County Pastors Act To Halt Gambling

RAVENNA, June 30.—Pointing to the "necessity for righteousness to take a hand," the Portage County Ministerial association today began steps to enter the drive to eliminate gambling.

Rev. Earl R. Henderson of Ravenna, president of the association, said the group was surprised to learn that slot machines and other forms of gambling were operating again after the ministers had been assured that gambling had been banned.

He referred to Prosecutor Theodore Tilden's order of last month, which halted gambling operations several days.

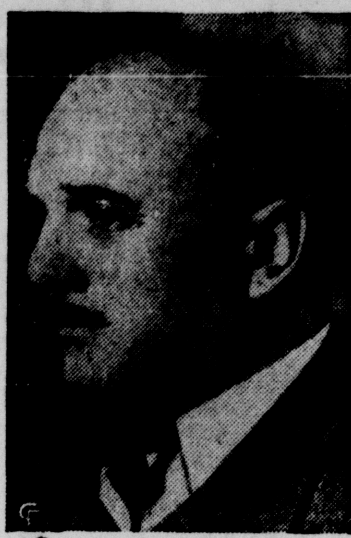

Mauthe Will Supervise Sheet, Tube Operations

YOUNGSTOWN, June 30.—J. L. Mauthe, general superintendent of Youngstown district plants of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., has been appointed vice president in charge of operations to succeed William B. Gilles who died last Sunday.

Mauthe will have charge of operations in the company's Youngstown and Chicago district plants and all its mining properties.

The appointment, announced today by President Frank Purnell, is effective tomorrow.

Directs Coal Mines

CARL E. NEWTON of Cleveland, 45-year-old president of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad company, is directing coal mine operations for the federal government following his appointment by Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes. Newton, who supervised the largest coal hauling carrier in the world as railroad president, is charged with keeping coal production going until the labor crisis is past. (International)

BLOOD BANK PLAN REQUIRES DONORS

Officials Renew Appeal for Citizens To Aid Local Proposition

armed forces by the Red Cross blood donor unit.

Arrangements will be made to send a small unit, composed of a doctor and nurses, to the communities in the area outside of Salem, to eliminate unnecessary driving on the part of donors.

The defense councils of Salem, East Palestine, Lisbon, Columbiana and Leetonia provided the $300 used for purchasing the equipment for the blood collection.

Handled By Red Cross

Work of obtaining the first 80 pints will be handled by Red Cross chapters in each community. The bank will be maintained, however, in the Salem hospitals.

A system of graded fees for use of plasma has been set. If a bottle of plasma is used on a patient, and is not replaced by a blood donation from a friend or relative of the patient, a charge of $25 will be made. If a pint of blood is donated by a friend or relative of the patient, the charge becomes $10; if two pints are given the charge will be $5 and if three pints are donated for each pint used, no charge is made.

It is believed that enough people will pay for the use of the plasma to offset the expense of processing into plasma the blood of those who donate enough to receive the plasma at no charge.

At a recent dinner meeting in Salem, plans for establishing and maintaining the bank were completed. Responsible for the progress of the plans are Atty. Ralph Atkinson, chairman of the Northern Columbiana County Defense council; John A. Woodward, of Columbiana, chairman of the Northern Columbiana County Medical Preparedness committee; Robert Henry of East Palestine, chairman of the Columbiana county chapter of the Red Cross and Miss Hazel Linn, executive secretary of the Salem Red Cross chapter.

administration (OPA) and the Office of War Information (OWI).

The war department's record $71,500,000 sum for the next fiscal year was passed quickly yesterday and legislators forecast quick house agreement with some minor changes.

Talk Follows Flareup

An undercurrent of lively but cautious talk filled senate circles meanwhile in the wake of the flare-up between Vice President Wallace and Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones. Wallace said Jones obstructed the board of economic warfare in acquiring war-vital materials; Jones said the statement was malicious and incorrect. Senator Danaher (R-Conn.) said there ought to be an investigation but Democratic committee chairmen showed no wish to take on the assignment. President Roosevelt at the same time blamed the press and radio for controversies within his administration and said a look around the country would prove his contention that the home front was doing all right.

In the house attention centered on a Dies subcommittee's plans for a prolonged inquiry on conditions in Japanese relocation camps and Chairman Dies (D-Tex.) said recent racial disturbances such as the Detroit riot would be investigated, too. At midnight, the pay-as-you-go income tax collection law becomes effective but slimmer pay envelopes will not be noticed for a week or two.

Control Wood Pulp

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The War Production board today took control over the use of all wood pulp and issued orders forbidding any deliveries of pulp to paper and paperboard manufacturers without express WPB authority.

Railroad Shippers Ask New Equipment

CLEVELAND, June 30.—An appeal for allocation of steel for requirements of railroads was anticipated today from the National Railroad association's Great Lakes regional advisory board, in session here to ponder wartime shipping problems.

In opening sessions yesterday, the shippers discussed war production board curtailment of materials priorities for railroad equipment, and indicated a resolution would be adopted asking allocation of steel "for the minimum requirements of railroads as to locomotives, cars and rail."

Caleb R. Megee of Washington, manager of the association's open car section, told the board "the American railroads are handling twice as much tonnage as was handled during the peak of 1918," but added:

"Our efforts for national defense or offensive will never be better than our transportation. We must keep the conveyor line running at top speed or the production will stop."

Robert J. Bowman of Detroit, Mich., president of the Pere Marquette railway, asserted every demand made upon railroads during the past six months has been met, despite shortages of equipment and heavier demands for service.

COMMIT LIVERPOOL MAN TO HOSPITAL

LISBON, June 30.—Judge Joel H. Sharp yesterday committed to the Lima state hospital for the criminal insane Francis Holland, 43-year-old Negro indicted in the slaying of Phoebe Peachey in East Liverpool last month.

Commitment followed a hearing yesterday at the Massillon state hospital where Dr. A. G. Hyde, head of the institution, who recently conducted an examination of Holland, certified his insanity.

The hearing was attended by Prosecuting Attorney Frank Springer, Assistant James Elliott, Sheriff George Hayes and defense counsel.

Plan Surprise Alerts

COLUMBUS, June 30.—The first of a series of surprise daylight air raid drills to be conducted throughout Ohio within the next few weeks will be held in the nine-county central Ohio district this week, Ralph H. Stone, state defense director, announced. Traffic will be halted and pedestrians will seek shelter. Counties participating in the initial trial are Marion, Morrow, Delaware, Licking, Franklin, Madison, Pickaway, Fairfield and Hocking.

Killed In Fall

ASHTABULA, June 30.—A fall from a ladder to the dock wall at the Union Dock Co. was fatal yesterday to Arthur Bruff, 58, of Detroit, porter on the Steamer Willis L. King.

CHURCHILL HINTS OF NEW ATTACKS

Declares There Will Be Heavy Fighting Before Autumn Leaves Fall

The United States Air Force becomes more numerous our strong arms will lengthen both by night and by day and there is no industry or military target in Germany that will not receive as we deem necessary the utmost application of the exterminating force.

"I have never indulged in shallow, fugitive optimism but I have thought it right to make this statement because I am sure it will not lead to the slightest complacency or relaxation of that awful force which now is being brought into action."

"This force will be remorselessly applied to the guilty nations and their wicked leaders who imagined their superiority of air-power would enable them to terrorize and subjugate first all Europe and afterwards the world."

The Germans, Churchill declared, made "extreme exertions" in May to halt convoys from the United States to Britain, sending out "long lines of U-boats." But they were met by Allied sea forces and the fighting ended "in the total defeat of the U-boat attack."

The powerful and growing U. S. Air Force "has by precision daylight bombing inflicted a grave injury upon the most sensitive nerve center of the enemy's war production, and American crews and pilots are continually performing feats of arms of highest skill with dauntless audacity and devotion," he said.

Farmer Dead, 11 Made Ill By Home Made Ice Cream

CIRCLEVILLE, June 30.—Dr. Ned Griner today attributed the death of Elmer May, 80-year-old retired farmer, and the illness of 11 others to food poisoning from eating home made ice cream.

The physician who attended the 12 after they had eaten the ice cream Monday said those who became slightly ill were May's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Timmons; the Timmons' daughter, Gayle, 15; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Schneider and their four children.

Dr. Griner said ice cream was the only food the 12 had in common.

DEATHS

MRS. IRENE STUCKEY

Mrs. Irene Stuckey, 75, R. D. 2, Beloit, widow of Charles Ludwig Stuckey, died of complications at 12:40 p. m. yesterday following a 10-day illness.

She was born in East Greenville, Nov. 22, 1867, and had spent her entire life in this vicinity. She was a member of the North Georgetown Emmanuel Lutheran church. Her husband preceded her in death in October 1939.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Edith Ritchie, North Georgetown; Mrs. Amanda Waffer of Cleveland, Mrs. Marie E. Cook, Minerva; three sons, Albert and Carl of R. D. 2, Beloit, George of Lisbon; 16 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the North Georgetown Lutheran church in charge of Rev. Charles Frank. Burial will be in North Georgetown cemetery. Friends may call from 7 to 9 p. m. Thursday at the Cassaday-Turley funeral home in Alliance.

JOHN C. BAYER

Relatives here have received word of the death of John C. Bayer, 83, yesterday morning at his home in Helena, Mont. He was born in Salem and had spent his early days here.

Surviving are one brother, T. W. Bayer of Cleveland; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Luella Bayer, and four nieces, Mrs. B. L. Flick, Mrs. Anna Holloway, Mrs. H. E. Zeppernick and Mrs. E. S. Vincent, all of Salem.
